BEFORE PACKED COURTROOM

Dawley Pleads Not Guilty On 3 Counts at Nanaimo

By TONY DICKASON
Times Staff Reporter

NANAIMO—Three times he was facing trial in Nanaimo Assize taken Dec. 7, 1953, and Dean Reginald Andrews, plant manager for Sunnibrae Dairies in Duncan, who was being questioned by Mr. McCulloch regarding circumstances surrounding the disappearance of one of the company's one-ton trucks.

SON OF CHIEF

An escape artist—two temporarily successful escapes from Oakalla—and son of a former Esquimalt police chief, the hawk-faced man was arrested at gunpoint in Toronto in mid-January.

Dawley fled in his night clothes from Vancouver General Hospital March 8, 1954, while serving a six-month term for assaulting a police officer and awaiting trial on an habitual criminal charge. He had been taken to the hospital from Oakalla after complaining he was ill.

His second escape was made Aug. 23, 1954, when he scaled a 10-foot wall at Oakalla at the end of an exercise period.

He had been working for a Toronto fuel dealer the last time he had been free. When arrested he had been at least 17 months.

He arrived, manacled to an RCMP constable, at 10:30 a.m. from Vancouver via boat. He was taken off at the freight level—first person off the boat—and whisked to Nanaimo court house, accompanied by three constables.

Federal assistance was essential but that did not mean Ontario was satisfied with a federal government offer two months ago to pay about half the costs of some aspects of the foreseeable future.

It was presented during a debate on second reading of a bill to set up a hospital commission.

The plan outlined expenditures of $213,500 in 1957 if the plan were operative by then. Federal aid was essential.

In its present stage, it would have the government picking up the tab for general, convalescent or chronic hospital bills including ordinary drugs, medicines and dressings.

WOULD PAY FOR EXTRAS

Special diagnostic services such as radiological examinations and laboratory tests would be paid as would hospital bills for mental and tubercular patients.

Similar services would be provided if possible in homes to keep hospital crowding to a minimum.

The plan, however, would not be free. Much of the financing would be by premiums, until then as conductor.

HE'S STAGGERED, CAR'S WRECKED

Herd Faces Widowhood As 'Old Joe' Smears Auto

BIG DELTA, Alaska (AP)—Game agents are keeping a vigil over "Old Black Joe," kingpin of the buffalo herd that inhabits this sector of Alaska's interior.

A car carrying two army families slammed into the ton of buffalo on the highway several days ago. When the car quit spinning, the doors had to be pried open so the six bruised occupants could get out.

Joe staggered away. The automobile was towed off, its front end completely caved in and sold for junk by its owner.

Marks on the road indicated Joe was knocked 10 feet. He got up and staggered six miles.

He was still alive Tuesday, but very weak. Game agents estimate that Joe's death would mean widowhood for 100 members of Alaska's only buffalo herd.

Eden Seeks Solid Front With U.S. to Avert War

Terrorists Defy Troops In Cyprus

Youth Killed In New Uproar

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—The noise of terrorist bomb explosions sounded during the night as Greek Cypriots defied intensified British measures to stamp out their campaign violence on this Mediterranean island.

A Greek Cypriot youth was fatally injured by a bomb splinter when terrorists hurled a grenade at a British army patrol car near Paphos, north of the west coast port of Paphos.

Terrorists, pressing Greek Cypriot demands for merger of Cyprus with Greece, also threw two bombs at a police station in Morphou, 25 miles west of Nicosia. The bombs caused damage but no casualties.

JAILED FOR LIFE

The outbreaks followed the biggest search carried out by British troops in Nicosia since the wave of violence reached its present pitch a year ago. Troops Tuesday night stopped cars all over this capital and carefully searched drivers and passengers. Other soldiers rarely covered them with machine-guns from doorways.

Six Greek Cypriot youths were sentenced today to life imprisonment when they pleaded guilty to carrying arms and ammunition last December. They were arrested on a lonely country lane near where terrorists had attacked a police station the previous night and killed a British officer.

Two Juniors Called Up By Cougars

Victoria Cougars will have two new players in uniform when they meet Seattle Americans here Friday night in a Western Hockey League game.

Managing director Fred Hutchinson said today that he has secured Pete Panagakos and Lawrence Leach from the Humboldt team of the Saskatchewan Junior League.

"I talked to coach Scotty Munro of Humboldt this morning," said Hutchinson, "and if he can contact the players to day, they should arrive here tomorrow morning."

Leach, 19 years of age, is a centre. Panagakos, 18, is a right winger. Panagakos scored 51 goals this season.

BENCHES JAMMED

Spectators' benches in the court room were jammed. People laughed and joked before the trial got under way. There was almost a holiday mood in the room.

The prisoner smoked in an anteroom before being brought to court. He was hatless, without an overcoat, no tie, sport shirt, and appeared in good health.

His wife, a slight blonde, was in the spectators' gallery. He did not look at her and showed no sign of nervousness apart from a thoughtful chewing of a finger.

Presiding at the trial is Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes, A. G. McCullough, Port Alberni, is appearing for the Crown, with D. Culiffe as assistant Crown prosecutor.

The defence counsel is Larry Hill.

Selection of the jury this morning took a little over one-half hour. Twelve men were empanelled.

Dawley was captured in the east following publication of his picture in a Saturday edition of Weekend magazine supplement in The Victoria Times and other newspapers.

Mid-East Crisis Sparks New Call For U.S. Action

1. Eden calls for new Anglo-U.S. alignment, in anti-communist Baghdad pact, to stop looming Arab-Israeli war. Commons told "third party" (Russia) "pouring poison into Mid-East wound."

2. Canada stalls shipment of 12 Harvard aircraft to Egypt.

3. U.S. sends Marine battalion to Mediterranean for "training and manoeuvres."

4. Iraq joins Arab world's "common front" against Israel.

5. Security Council emergency session looms as Israel protests to U.N. newest "wanton aggressions" by Syria.

6. Arab "war council" at Cairo co-ordinates "mutual aid" plans, pooling armies under Egyptian control.

(Times News Services)

LONDON—Britain has asked the United States to join the anti-communist Baghdad pact immediately to bolster faltering western influence in the Middle East, informed sources said today.

The sources said Prime Minister Anthony Eden also felt that a clear declaration of Anglo-American alignment now would avert the threatening war in the Middle East.

Both Associated and United Press reported political informants disclosed that Eden had appealed directly to President Eisenhower with a suggestion that the U.S. join the pact.

U.S. CRITICIZED

There was a growing feeling in official British circles that the United States is "letting Britain down" in Britain's efforts to take a firm stand in the Middle East, the sources said.

The influential London Times, which often reflects government opinion, said bluntly today that "on several critical occasions American policy seems to have run deliberately counter to British policy."

This morning Eden studied urgent messages from Karachi, where Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd conferred with U.S. State Secretary Dulles at the SEATO conference on the Mid-East situation.

Eden was reported to have discussed an urgent alignment of Middle East policy in his half-hour talk Tuesday with U.S. Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich.

Eden met with Aldrich before an emergency cabinet meeting on the Middle East which was followed by a secret meeting on British Mid-East policy by Conservative members of the foreign affairs committee.

Those attending the meeting included the "Suez Rebels" of Eden's own Conservative party who threatened an open revolt unless Britain salvages its Middle East prestige with a show of military force against Jordan and Egypt.

Iraq Joins Anti-Israel Arab Alliance

JERUSALEM (CP)—Iraq today became the latest Arab nation to join in a common front against Israel despite the fact she is a member of the western-sponsored Baghdad pact.

Iraq proposed a military conference with her Arab neighbors on a common front to "kill any widespread Israeli aggression."

Informed sources in Damascus said the oil-rich Arab kingdom, long a target of nationalist Arab criticism because it is a member of the Baghdad pact, submitted the proposal to Syria, Egypt, Lebanon and Jordan.

CAIRO-WAR COUNCIL

Strategic discussions went on among the government chiefs of Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia in Cairo.

An Egyptian spokesman said Egypt's Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser, Saudi Arabia's King Saud and Syria's President Shukri Al Kuwaiji discussed co-operation of the defences of the Arab world and co-operation of the plans of the three nations—whose forces are linked under Egyptian command in a mutual aid alliance—in case of aggression.

Iraq's King Faisal is a cousin of Jordan's young King Hussein, who won applause from Arab nationalists last week by firing British Lieut.-Gen. John Glubb as commander of the Jordanian Arab Legion. The Egyptian-Syrian-Saudi Arabian alliance would like to have that 20,000-man force under its unified command.

CNR Firings, Pensions Under Fire From CCFer

From Times News Service

Stanley Knowles, a persistent critic of some of the things the publicly-owned CNR does, Tuesday took up two of them: (1) firing of employees convicted of misdemeanors and (2) low pension benefits.

The CCF member from Winnipeg North Centre said the CNR's policy of dismissing employees after they are convicted of wrongdoing should be reviewed. It was unfair because it added punishment upon punishment.

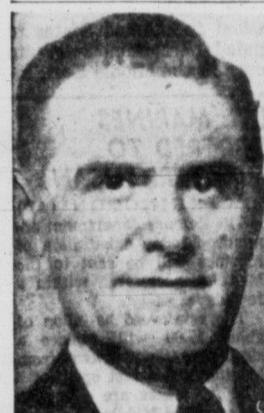

He referred to the case of a CNR employee convicted of a misdemeanor, fined $10 and then fired.

There was also the case of a man charged with stealing CNR property and being found in possession of CNR property. He had been tried twice by a jury and found not guilty.

Mr. Knowles said the man was suspended when the charges were laid and fired after his second trial. Now the former CNR employee and the former were negotiating a settlement of his claims for back wages during his suspension.

Asks Higher Pensions

The policy of firing employees found innocent in such cases also should be reviewed. It was an unfair policy.

New Statute For French News Agency

PARIS (Reuters)—The French cabinet decided today to bring a bill before the National Assembly to give a new statute to the state-subsidized news agency, Agence France-Presse.

The agency receives about 200,000 francs ($5,500,000) annually out of the budget of the ministry of information. Its director is nominated by the cabinet and he can be removed by the government at any time.

The proposed statute purports to give the agency some degree of independence from direct government interference by handing over control to a committee on which representatives of the French newspapers would form a majority.

Advertising Costs

Newspapers got the lion's share and a little to spare of post office advertising in the calendar years 1954 and 1955.

A return tabled Tuesday by the post office department shows more money was spent on newspaper advertising than for magazines and periodicals and radio put together.

The department spent $50,370 on newspaper space in 1954 and $45,441 in 1955 compared to $21,665 and $29,974, respectively, in magazines and periodicals and $17,785 and $12,699, respectively, for radio advertisement.

Hits CNR, TCA

The publicly-owned Canadian National Railways and Trans-Canada Air Lines are bringing the creeping paralysis of socialism to Canada," a Social Credit member said.

George Hahn, New Westminster, said TCA refuses to permit competition from privately-owned air services. The TCA was trying to put truckers out of business by its own trucking service carried "piggy bank" on railway flatcars.

"We have there the creeping paralysis of socialism."

Mr. Hahn said an application by Pacific Western Airlines to run a cross-country air coach service had been denied because TCA knew it would lead to cheaper fares. Scandinavian Air Services flew a polar route to Europe through Winnipeg, but travelers there were denied the right to use it.

If the government was going to operate public services, they should be able to compete.

"We are so gradually becoming conditioned to nationalization we shall be nationalized before we are aware of it."

Transport Minister Marler rejected opposition demands for competitive air services on domestic routes now served exclusively by TCA.

Their demands for private competition on TCA routes, he said, were not accompanied by similar demands for TCA competition on routes now served only by private air lines.

Pensioners' Diet

The health department has been asked whether the diet of old age pensioners is causing as much concern as the breakfasts of federal civil servants.

Youth Dies in Raging Flames Attempting to Save Sisters

PORT EDWARD, B.C. (CP)—Raging flames swept through a cannery row dwelling here Tuesday night and claimed the life of a 19-year-old youth and his two young sisters he was attempting to rescue.

Dead are Edward Johnson, Barbara, 3, and Dixie, 14 months. The little girls were burned in their beds.

Mrs. Stanley Johnson, their sister-in-law, fled the two-story home with her baby in her arms. Both were unhurt, although they raced through the flames.

The dead are children of Mr.

and Mrs. William Johnson, employees of Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. cannery at this coastal village eight miles east of Prince Rupert.

The parents were at work when the fire broke out.

Their daughter-in-law told police she believes the fire was caused by an exploding oil stove or gasoline lamp. She said she arrived half an hour later.

GM VICE-PRESIDENT HERE

E. J. Umprey, vice-president and director of sales for General Motors, Oshawa, visited Victoria Tuesday in connection with the sale of Wilson Motors, Ltd., leading GM dealers, to Newell Morrison, a former employee. Mr. Umprey (standing) is seen here with R. B. (Dick) Wilson, founder of the firm.

Dealers Optimistic Says GM Sales Chief

Production at General Motors plant, Oshawa, is rapidly regaining momentum after the prolonged strike and will soon reach capacity, said E. J. Umprey, vice-president and director of sales, during a brief visit to Victoria.

Mr. Umprey came here in connection with the sale of Wilson Motors Ltd. to Newell Morrison of Duncan. He was interviewed in company with R. B. (Dick) Wilson, an old friend, who founded Wilson Motors in 1928.

Travelling across Canada Mr. Umprey found GM dealers "even more optimistic than I expected regarding prospects for 1956."

"Now that production at our Oshawa plant is regaining its old momentum, I am confident our sales across Canada this year will equal our record trade in 1955."

Then he called on Mr. Wilson

On his journey to the coast Mr. Umprey talked with GM dealers in Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver.

"I was heartened by the generally buoyant attitude of our dealers. No one seemed to have any doubts concerning the future."

Duncan Man Buys Wilson Motors

Former Salesman Takes Over Firm
He Started With Just 6½ Years Ago

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Six and a half years after he joined Wilson Motors in Victoria as a junior salesman, ex-RCAF pilot Newell Morrison will take over the business as president and general manager next Monday.

R. B. (Dick) Wilson, the man who started Morrison on his meteoric career in 1949, announced the sale of his business today.

It will be known in future as Morrison, Chevrolet, Oldsmobile Ltd.

"I am happy to hand over Wilson Motors to Newell," Mr. Wilson told The Times. "He knows the firm's policy, he is known to all the staff, and I am confident he will make an excellent General Motors dealer."

STARTED IN 1928

Mr. Wilson, who comes of an old Victoria family, started his business as The Motor Shop on Yates street in 1928 and built it up into Wilson Motors, one of the biggest automobile sales and service enterprises on Vancouver Island and recognized agents for Chevrolet, Oldsmobile and Cadillac cars.

Later Mr. Wilson established a branch at Duncan. And only two years after he joined Wilson's, Newell Morrison bought the Duncan branch from Mr. Wilson and established himself in Duncan as Morrison Motors Ltd.

STIPE MOTORS

The Duncan business has now been sold to Walter R. Stipe of Victoria and will become Wally Stipe Motors Ltd. Mr. Stipe is also an old employee of Wilson Motors in Victoria, where he was successively credit manager, used car manager and assistant sales manager.

Newell Morrison, a native of Regina, came out to the coast to attend the University of British Columbia after the war and acquired a Bachelor of Commerce degree.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1956

The Biggest Year

CANADA'S MOST EMINENT OPTIMIST, Mr. C. D. Howe, evidently expects 1956 to be the best business year in our history. His economic forecast is almost unbelievable but so were his prophecies in former years and all of them were made good.

Capital investment of all sorts this year, Mr. Howe predicts, will break even the record of 1955. The nation will spend some $7.5 billions to expand its industries, build new houses, improve roads and modernize its public services. This will be an increase of more than a billion dollars over last year's investment. Probably no nation in the world, on a per capita basis, will equal Canada's business expansion, as no nation is equalling our growth in population.

But this progress will create heavy strains in our economy. As Mr. Howe says, we simply cannot produce all the materials we shall need for our expansion and must import more of them than ever. "Canadian producers of some key materials," he warns, "may not be able to meet increases in demand. If present plans are to be realized, a substantial increase in such imports will be necessary."

Those imports must be paid for, and they can be paid for either by our own exports or by the import capital, mainly from the United States.

It is unlikely that we can sell as much as we can buy abroad. No doubt we shall incur another heavy deficit in our foreign trade and it will be financed by a heavy movement of American capital into Canada, at the very time when the nation is obviously alarmed by American penetration into our industry.

At the same time the momentum of the boom will generate inflationary pressures within the nation, the demand for goods, at least in some categories, being greater than the supply.

The real economic problem of the Federal Government this year, if Mr. Howe is right, will not be to encourage expansion but to prevent it getting out of hand at the cost of a general price rise.

As the general manager of the national economy Mr. Howe has achieved an unparalleled success. Will Mr. Harris be equally successful in managing the financial structure which reflects and must be wisely used to govern the physical structure of an economy now operating under full steam and strained at the seams?

The finance minister's spring budget will indicate pretty clearly whether his housekeeping methods are as sound as Mr. Howe's business forecast.

No Early Election?

M.R. BENNETT SAYS HIS GOVERNMENT IS NOT THINKING OF ANY ELECTION AT ALL. THIS MAY STILL CURRENT TALK OF AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE IN THE IMMEDIATE FUTURE.

SO LONG AS THE MYSTERY OF THE SOMMERS CASE HANGS OVER THE GOVERNMENT IT HAS NO RIGHT TO SEEK A NEW MANDATE FROM AN ELECTORATE WHICH HAS NO MEANS OF JUDGING THE TRUTH ABOUT MANY VITAL QUESTIONS.

TO SPRING AN ELECTION UNDER PRESENT CONDITIONS SHOULD BE UNTHINKABLE TO THE GOVERNMENT.

ONCE THE SOMMERS CASE IS CLARIFIED THE GOVERNMENT WILL HAVE A PERFECT RIGHT TO CALL AN ELECTION WHENEVER IT PLEASES, THOUGH THERE DOES NOT SEEM TO BE ANY VALID ELECTION ISSUE AT THE MOMENT.

UNFORTUNATELY THE GOVERNMENT'S STRANGE SILENCE IN THE LEGISLATURE DOES HIM AN INJUSTICE. PERHAPS HE INTENDS TO APPOINT A ROYAL COMMISSION ON THE CHARGES LEVELED AGAINST MR. SOMMERS AND ITS DECISION TO LEAVE THEM TO A LEGAL TRIAL IN A LIBEL SUIT MAY WELL PRODUCE A LONG DELAY.

THAT DELAY IS ONE OF THE OBJECTIONS, BUT NOT THE MOST SERIOUS.

Unded the Microscope

AS MR. HOWE SAYS, THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT CANNOT PERMIT ITS SCIENTISTS TO BE QUESTIONED BY A HOUSE OF COMMONS COMMITTEE ON THE SECRETS OF THEIR WORK ON ATOMIC WEAPONS.

Apart from Canada's own security, these scientists possess secret information from the British and American Governments and have no right to reveal it. But Mr. Howe agrees that a parliamentary committee may question his officials on any matter which does not involve security.

This arrangement apparently will satisfy the Opposition, for of course it has no wish to impair military secrets. But it is quite another matter when the appropriations committee of the Commons comes to consider the ordinary expenditures of Government departments which are not secret and which are strictly the business of Parliament.

Here the Government refuses to allow the committee to subpoena witnesses at will. The Opposition seems to think that the Government is thus unwilling to expose the business of its departments, but this suspicion is far-fetched. Undoubtedly the Government will produce all the documents and officials desired by the committee.

Certainly this new method of examining the Government's annual budget is a vast improvement over the loose and ineffective method followed until recent years.

Before the appropriations committee was established, the estimates of expenditure—a gigantic accumulation of figures—were submitted to the whole House of Commons and it simply lacked time to examine them except in the most cursory fashion. Toward the end of every parliamentary session appropriations customarily were approved without any attempt at full inquiry in million-dollar and even billion-dollar chunks.

The national budget is now so large and complex that even a committee working without interruption outside the House cannot go into all the figures during a single session.

Instead, the committee studies the figures of three or four departments each session and thus over a period of a few years will cover the entire structure of the administration. Meanwhile, any particular appropriation can be questioned and fully discussed in the House itself. The House is not obligated to pass any vote and, as its first prerogative, must approve every item of expenditure before the money can be spent.

There is no evidence to suggest that the Government is trying to withhold relevant information from Parliament. The real problem is to find time for a full survey of a budget almost unintelligible to the layman and even to cabinet ministers, outside the scope of their own individual departments.

Haying adopted the British system of an appropriations committee, Parliament at least is able each year to apply a microscope to some part of the budget. Every department knows that its turn may come next and the certainty of a searching inquiry, sooner or later, is a powerful safeguard against waste and inefficiency.

'Sign of a Better Future'

IN AN EXCELLENT SERIES OF graphic newspaper advertisements the Shell Oil Company of Canada, Limited, is drawing the attention of motorists to a few vital facts they should know.

These advertisements provide the material for a series of tests—questions which the driver may answer to determine how competent he or she is at the wheel of a car.

What the short quizzes illustrate is a background of knowledge which everyone who drives should have. They include identification of road signs, determination of the individual's reaction time, the distance a driver should remain behind the car in front of him and the speed of visual impression on the individual.

Shell, which is sponsoring this campaign for better driving and the avoidance of accidents, carries on some of the advertisements the words "Sign of a better future for you." The company could be a little more brutal and still as accurate. It could delete the word "better."

Those who drive and those who want any future will be well advised to take the campaign to heart.

Can't See the Music for the Candelabra

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

IF YOU have no fixed engagement for tomorrow evening how about dropping in at the Arts Centre at 8.30? There's an illustrated lecture on "Personalities in Modern Architecture" by Warnett Kennedy.

Mr. Kennedy is an architect himself, and a very colorful character in his appearance, accent, manner of expressing himself, and opinions. I do not mean that his opinions are simply bizarre. To me they seem unusually well-balanced . . . with unusual the operative word. But they do not have a middle-of-the-road dullness, and they are calculated to annoy extremists of any sort. I was going to add "though charmingly and moderately expressed," but I think it should really be "because charmingly and moderately expressed." Nothing annoys an extremist more than good humor . . . he can understand a raving fanatic, while deplored him, but to him a witty and commonsense moderation sounds like dangerous double-talk, and treason as well.

Mr. Kennedy was trained in his native Scotland, from which he escaped with his Glasgow accent intact. After a varied and highly successful career in London, where he had a good deal to do with many famous exhibitions and festivals, he came to live in British Columbia about three years ago. He practices in Vancouver and is, among other things, a consultant on the Anacis Island development.

YOU may have heard his Glasgow accent and stimulating views on the radio from time to time, and you may also have seen his engaging beard on TV. But I think he is really at his best on the lecture platform. I heard him give this same talk about a month ago, at the Vancouver Art Gallery, so I know what I'm talking about when I urge you to hear it. This is not simply a plug in the dark. (A plug in the dark that sounds as if somebody had just blown all the fuses. Or as if he had just dropped his tobacco down a well.) And not only do I know what I am talking about, but Warnett Kennedy knows what he is talking about. It is not many lecturers who know what they are talking about, and who talk well, and who have a powerful and vivid personality.

MANY architects of Warnett Kennedy's age (mid-forties) were trained in schools where the break with tradition is so complete that the students regard the whole of the past as a mere joke, and a very bad one. This is even truer of younger men. Mr. Kennedy was trained in Glasgow, which in his time was too much a stronghold of tradition, and against which he revolted. He escaped to much freer London and soaked himself in the main stream of contemporary art . . . a stream that does not always flow onward, of course . . . all too often it goes round in a huge eddy for very long time. Contemporary painting, for example, has been in an eddy for about forty years now, and poetry for about forty years, and so on, and though it is still called "advanced" and "progressive" and "modern" to be part of such an eddy, it is actually a state of formal, paralyzed, academic, imitative, restricted, narrow, hidebound fogey-ism. They say there is no fool like an old fool, but it is also true, to say there is no fogey like a young foxy.

ANONYMOUS, Mr. Kennedy had a long apprenticeship under both schools, which is unusual today. That would do him little good if he simply kept hoping from one narrowness to another. But he is and remains interested in ideas; he is continually reassessing his values, he is always learning and always enlarging his view, and I for one find him very refreshing to listen to.

I do not propose to summarize his lecture here, when you can hear its author do the whole thing tomorrow. But I'd like to say this much: at the lecture in Vancouver there were a few young architects or students or lovers of progress who professed themselves unable to understand him when he objected to certain tendencies of the day. For example, he didn't care for a fashion which decrees that many or most buildings must look exactly like each other no matter what their function is. They must all be a boxlike framework, the skeleton of a box, on which is hung an acreage of pre-fab glass facade. There is no room for an architect here. Such a frozen and standardized notion will not only be the death of architecture but in some ways has already been the death of architecture.

THIS deplorable fashion is partly the result of the almost universal demand for something cheap, quick, and readily sold after a few years to a second owner who may require the building for a purpose which is the dead opposite of its original purpose. So it is not really designed thoroughly for any original purpose. It is just the skeleton of a box with a glass curtain, like all its thousands of duplicates everywhere. Well, as I say, a few members of the audience denied that they could understand such talk. I think I can promise that you'll understand it all right. And if by any remote and perverse chance you don't, then you might go along and enliven things afterwards. Stand up and say "How's that again?"

AS FOR your not having any interest in architecture . . . well, you have to look at buildings and inhabit them and pay for them, don't you? And in a way they are expressing you, or should be. Though I always hope, a little wistfully, that a pre-fab church or pre-fab school is not a sign of pre-fab minds within.

WHERE WENT TOLMIE?

In the layout of Victoria's streets there are, as residents are painfully aware, many anomalies.

An egregious example is Tolmie Avenue which on the local maps is shown as running, in part, between Quadra and Cook streets. This is a flight of unfounded fantasy on the part of the map makers as, in fact, there is and always has been a large gap at the Cook street end.

Drivers following along Tolmie are lured into an exceedingly dangerous situation as this section deteriorates imperceptibly into a wilderness of glutinous clay and blind rock cavities large enough to overturn a car.

Many dollars have been wasted by drivers in the hire of tow trucks to extract their cars from these hazards. Police, taxis, delivery trucks, and others who could be expected to know the City have all been trapped.

As owner of the nearest house I am besieged, day and night by drivers asking what happened to Tolmie and asking to phone for tow trucks.

During the last two years I have on several occasions visited City hall and asked them politely to, at least, post a strategically sited notice directing drivers away from these very real dangers. On each occasion City hall has promised action but has, in fact, done absolutely nothing.

One inference only can be made namely that City hall feels not the slightest interest in public safety and that the only hope is that this adverse publicity may, possibly, arouse them to action.

JUDGMENT DAY

In the Times of Feb. 27, Mr. Frank Partridge stated, "Election of any government on an overall minority vote is not healthy."

What about the majority vote on "Commercial Sports" in Vancouver, which is violation of "The Lord's Day Act"? Also the majority vote in England against the death sentence for murderers, who take the lives of unarmed persons who are unable to defend themselves, a violation of "Thou shall not kill" of the Bible and the democratic law of Justice.

The solution of the problem would be a more humane method. So long as murderers take advantage of defenceless people, so long must the law of "A life for a life" be upheld.

Surely this is "Judgment Day." Let us not fail, the price is too terrible.

PROGRESS

INFORMATION PLEASE!

In the March issue of The Victoria Daily Times, MRA pamphlet Peter Howard is reported as saying, among other things, that "the non-Communist has to face the truth that co-existence, unaccompanied by an ideology that changes men, is a betrayal of freedom."

As co-existence, according to the dictionary, is "existence at the same time with another," how can we wait for this required change in ideology if in the meantime we refuse to co-exist with the Communist world? Doesn't this simply mean liquidation of one side or the other—in atomic war, maybe liquidation of both sides—non-existence instead of co-existence?

If, taking their cue from Mr. Howard, our Western leaders announce to the Communist world that we refuse to co-exist with it, what then? If, after the Crusades, Christendom had refused to co-exist with Islam until it changed its ideology, where would Europe be today?

Are those of us, including our Western leaders, who today, in their dealings in the United Nations—accept co-existence with Communism, all, in the words of Mr. Howard, guilty of "betrayal of freedom?"

THIS OLD WORLD OF WOES

Listening to the radio, after President Eisenhower's decision to run again, I was shocked to hear the Democrats' attitude and campaign tactics against a man's health. They hope to win! Man's inhumanity to man. We certainly have not gone very far spiritually in these years. One wonders what the parents of such men feel? May the best man win. I am glad I am a Canadian.

PEN PAL?

I am writing in the hope that you will do me a great favor.

I am 21 years of age and I reside at the address below. I was wondering if you would print my name and address in your paper, as I am desirous of obtaining a pen friend in Canada.

I would prefer to write to a girl between the ages of 18 to 20. I would like to send a photo of myself. I am interested in all sports and photography, especially the making of home movies.

I am a bachelor and have no ties of any description.

MARCHING MOTHERS

Once again the B.C. Polio Fund has completed a successful mothers' march on polio. The drive was sponsored by the Vic-Van-Ish Kinsmen Club, but they had the support of many individuals and organizations who deserve much of the credit for the wonderful response received from the citizens of Victoria and the surrounding communities.

The campaign total now stands at $15,562. Our thanks go to the warm-hearted people of Victoria who gave so generously that others, less fortunate, may win the fight back to living as happy and useful citizens again.

far-reaching influence at the court of King Saud of Saudi Arabia. But after reviewing all these pressures on Transjordan, you may still ask where we come into this mess.

The answer is fairly simple. In the first place the money that King Saud is dispensing is American money. The Arabian-American Oil Company pays him his oil royalties; and Aranco has allowed his Saudi Arabian ruler to anticipate his royalties for an enormous sum.

STORES IN LADYSMITH WILL CLOSE FULL DAY

LADYSMITH—Mayor Len Ryan told the Chamber of Commerce this week that he expects the by-law providing for a full-day retail holiday Wednesday will be in effect the first week in April.

He told the meeting that the by-law has been given first and second reading, and that the council hopes to give it third reading next week.

In any event, he added, the by-law will be published at least two weeks in advance of the effective date so that the public will have ample warning.

Nanaimo Will Delay Gas Station Zoning

NANAIMO (CP)—A delegation of automotive retailers has asked city council to hold up the granting of further licences for service stations pending a meeting of the delegates and the town planning commission.

Spokesman for the automotive retailers, J. L. Kinnear of Vancouver, said the delegation will present the commission with information on gas station zoning gained from experiences in other municipalities.

He said the gas and service station operators do not want to limit the number of outlets for reasons of competition, but because the public will be best served by careful zoning.

Mayor E. C. Westwood said he would hold up all gas station applications with the exception of three now under construction.

Junior Chamber of Commerce already has announced its intention to back the move.

"Cassidair Services Ltd. deserves our full support," a chamber spokesman said. "We must have such facilities in Nanaimo."

The company has sub-leased Cassidy Airport from the city, and wishes to extend its training facilities and civilian aircraft maintenance services.

Excavation has begun at the site of the chamber's new building on Terminal Avenue behind the Queen's Hotel. Clarke Builders are contractors for the $14,700 glass and concrete building.

New Site for Garbage Dump Urged by Sidney Ratepayers

SIDNEY—Newly-formed Sidney Village Ratepayers' Association has asked the village commission to approach the provincial lands and forests department regarding finding a new site for the village garbage dump.

The "cut and fill" dump now being operated on the eastern boundary of the village has been protested by residents who claim refuse is not covered quickly enough.

The dump has been approved by Dr. A. N. Beattie of the provincial health department.

The commission was told Monday night that the new sewer system is now complete, and that the contractor's bond has been returned.

HOUSES CONDEMNED

All but two homes in the village now utilize the service A. W. Sharp, village clerk and health inspector, said the houses had insufficient plumbing facilities, and that residents were to be given 30 days to vacate the premises.

Under the new system, avenues will run east and west, and roads north and south.

Aaghast to find the 12-year-old absorbed in a magazine of the "true-romance" type (gee, mom, it's interesting. Sad story of the young Dutch couple who, meeting on Vancouver Island, falling in love and agreeing to marry, decided that the wedding should take place in Holland to combine the nuptials with a grand reunion of their large families. The young man triumphantly won his Canadian citizenship before they embarked on the voyage, clearing the way, as he thought, to return with his bride to his job on this island. But the Netherlands government "thumbed-down" the marriage of one of their girls to a Canadian and bang! went the elaborate preparations. Last I heard they're returning to this country in their single state, to ring the wedding bells on Canada's fair soil.

Nanaimo Jury Finds Drowning Accidental

'I Never Saw Anything Like It...
Everything Had to Work Right.'

SEATTLE (AP)—A seaman's sorrow at losing his ship and mystification as to why were about all Capt. Dudley Durrant brought back with him Tuesday night from a sea voyage which ended disastrously in storm-tossed Pacific waters Saturday.

The captain, skipper of the 7,943-ton S.S. Washington Mail which broke up and sank, flew in from Kodiak, Alaska, with eight others of the 60 aboard the freighter. The other 51 came in Monday night. All were saved from lifeboats by the timely arrival of the U.S. navy transport General Freeman, which took them to Kodiak.

EXTRAORDINARY?

"It might have been some sudden extraordinary force that hit the ship," Capt. Durrant said. "And if it was, I don't know if it came from something external or internal. The sea

Bookie Slain; Woman Faces Murder Charge

WINNIPEG (CP)—Inspector of detectives James Mulholland said a charge of murder will be laid against an attractive 29-year-old woman in connection with the death overnight of Winnipeg bookmaker, Alex Taylor, 44.

Mrs. Mona McDonnell appeared briefly in magistrate's court and was remanded until today. No charge had been laid at that time.

Police said Taylor, who died in hospital about 2 a.m., was stabbed in a room in a downtown rooming house.

They said there had been a drinking party at Taylor's room on Notre Dame Avenue Monday night, and there had been a dispute and evidence of a fight. Several persons at the party left, including Mrs. McDonnell, who went to her room on Edmonton Street.

Police said that a short time later Taylor turned up at the woman's room and another quarrel and fight started.

When police, called by Mrs. McDonnell, arrived at the rooming house at 1:20 a.m. they found Taylor conscious but bleeding from a stab wound over the heart.

Giovando Would Test Milk Act In Courts

NANAIMO (CP)—Dr. Larry Giovando, independent member of the legislature for Nanaimo and the Islands, says the new B.C. Milk Act should be tested in the courts before it goes into effect.

Speaking to the Nanaimo Kiwanis club Tuesday, Dr. Giovando said two previous pieces of legislation relating to milk had been found unsatisfactory. "The new act should be put

Enos Set for 22nd Year

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.
(AP)—The aches and pains are fading away and the country boy is just about ready for his 22nd year in the baseball wars.

Probably no follower of either major league needs to be told the country boy is Enos Bradsher Slaughter who will celebrate his 40th birthday April 27

and who is expected to play about 70 games in right field for the Kansas City Athletics this season. When not in the regular lineup, Slaughter will be pinch-hitting on demand.

One of the greatest—if not indeed the No. 1—competitors in the game, Enos is going about conditioning on his own. It's a tribute to his physical prowess that no one in the A's camp seems concerned whether he'll be in shape when the season opens.

IT'S MY VIEW
BY Bill Walker

Mickey Mantle is back in one piece. Amazin' Willie Mays is as amazin' as ever in spring workouts.

There are 16 potential World Series winners in the majors if . . . And Bert Thomas is coming "home."

"Yeah, I'll be 'home' in April," said the husky Tacoma logger, who pulled his cold-wracked body up on the beach at Saxe Point on July 9 of last year to become the first person to swim the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

A visitor at the press box in Seattle during the Cougar-American game of last Saturday, the slightly smaller edition of the man who captured the hearts of Victoria is getting ready for another try at the strait.

"I hope to be up there soon," said Bert. "First to look things over and then for business."

'Two or Three Tries,' Bert's Aim

"I'm going to try and make it the other way this time. I'll give it two or three good tries, and then, if I'm not successful, I'll go to the other side and see if I can't break my own record."

About 20 pounds lighter than he was when he made his historic crossing from Port Angeles, Bert has other fins in the surf for the future.

First on the agenda is "a job I've really been looking for."

"I think I've got the inside track on an instructor's position at Fort Lewis," said Bert. "I was up to see the general last week, and have to check with him against this week."

"If I get that job, I'll be happy, because I'll be able to practice my heart's content in the pool and get paid for it at the same time."

Ove Warned to Get Cracking

Meanwhile, Bert plans another attempt at the Seattle to Tacoma route, which he failed to master earlier this winter. "Say hello to all my pals in Victoria," he said. "And tell 'em I'll be seeing 'em real soon. And tell Ove (Ove Witt, Bert's trainer during his strait swim) to get that new protege of his (Ben Loughren) in shape real quick, 'cause I'm not going to waste any time once I get there."

Bert said, and looked the part, that he was in excellent shape and "better shape than I was when I first tried the swim last year."

Bert, too, has stepped up in class. "That's my publicity man," he remarked of a chap who momentarily interrupted the conversation. "I let him do all the work; it's easier that way—I just have to worry about being where he says to be."

"My weight?—well I was getting a little heavy, you know," he commented of his slimmer appearance. "And I feel better for it."

"Hockey? No, I don't know too much about it; I just dropped in to say hello and maybe get a little ink."

Which Bert has, here, before and now.

Hockey Hi-Jinks Billed Here Friday

If you take your hockey too plane load of Shriners dressed in Oriental garb and the famous New Westminster Oriental band, 28 strong.

On hand also will be the illustrious potentate and chief rabbi of Gizeh Temple and the Gizeh Temple Band of Victoria.

Ticket sales, however, are starting to snowball, so fans are urged to buy theirs early before they become non-existent later in the week. Exchange tickets may be obtained from any Shriner, and must be exchanged for arena seat tickets, which are on sale at the hockey club office, Fort St., or at the Hudson's Bay Co. box office.

So, whether you plan on seeing a hockey game, or want a few laughs, or both, Shrine Hockey Night should be just the thing.

Friday night is Shrine Hockey Night, and special between-period stunts, high-jinks and other unusual activities have been arranged.

The Shriners, who operate 17 children's hospitals in North America and Hawaii, have staged three hugely successful Hockey Nights in New Westminster, but this is the first one for Victoria.

Flying over from the mainland for the game will be

RICHMOND, Calif.—Leonard Gaines, 136, Richmond, outpointed Bolden Abrams, 135, Philadelphia, 10-10.

BRODIES HOST NANAIMO IN CUP SOCCER TEST

Brodies Bakery and Nanaimo will be knocking on the door to the 16's of the Province Cup competition Saturday.

The two clubs meet at Athletic Park at 2 Saturday with the winner advancing against Vancouver Firefighters in the first round proper of the cup competition.

Victoria Strathconas, deposited Coast Leaguers, have already qualified for the first round.

The two city teams stack up with 14 mainland teams in the annual Province Cup competition.

Brier Leaders Clash

Ontario, Manitoba Risk Unbeaten Marks

MONCTON, N.B. (BUP)—Ontario and Manitoba, both undefeated, headed for the first real showdown of the 1956 Canadian curling championships today in the fifth round in the five-day struggle for the Macdonald's Brier tankard.

Ontario's Toronto Granites, skipped by cigar-smoking Alf Phillips, boasted four straight wins to three for the Fort Rouge curling rink from Winnipeg, skipped by 1952 champion Billy Walsh. Right behind the two unbeaten rinks were Alberta (3-1), and Nova Scotia (2-1).

Ontario literally squeezed through its third round game with Quebec when Phillips' final rock outdrew skip Wally Smith of Thetford Mines by a scant quarter of an inch in the 12th end. Phillips, who admits he has more than his share of good luck so far, added Northern Ontario to the list of victims who have been defeated by the Granites when Steve Kuzmaki of Copper Cliff didn't take advantage of his final stone on several occasions.

Walsh's green-shirted Westerners were impressive in the lone game they played Tuesday, defeating New Brunswick's host rink from Moncton, 16-3. Perhaps the most impressive of all the 11 rinks were Jimmy Hill's Young Farmers from Delisle, Sask. The stylish Delisle rink racked up 37 points while beating two maritime rinks—Prince Edward Island, 19-6 and Newfoundland, 22-4. Against Bob Goudey's St. John's crew, the sharp Westerners had four counting rocks in a two-foot circle and a fifth one touching it, in one of the most impressive displays of drawing in the brier.

Matt Baldwin's Granites from Edmonton, a completely new rink from the crew with whom he won the 1952 Brier, downed Newfoundland, 12-7, and edged British Columbia, 7-6, for his third win in four games. Nova Scotia won its only game yesterday, handing Harold Jordan's Kimberley, B.C., team its first loss in the morning round, 14-7.

The field lies one-third under water," he said, "and unless improved drainage is put in, it will not be in condition for PCL by the opening date."

Mayor Fred Hume said something will have to be done but added: "We certainly can't afford to spend $30,000."

Aldermen were told half the work will have to be done immediately. The rest could be postponed.

Cedric Tallis, general manager of the Mounties, said he believes "something will be worked out with city council in due time."

Drainage will be studied by city engineer John Oliver, Alderman Earle Adams and Mr. Stroyan.

Tallis has announced an extra 2,400 seats, financed under an arrangement with city council, will be built at the stadium. Capacity will be brought close to 10,000 by the addition.

Pro Pats Leading

With each club having only one round left before playoffs start, Pro Pats held a two-point lead in the Inter-Club Snooker League standings.

Standings are: Pro Pats, 135;

Elks, 132; Britanica, 117; Eagles, 85; ANAF, 82.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

BY

Denny Boyd

BOUNDING DOWN BOXLA BOULEVARD — Even this early, Nanaimo Timbermen present a strong case as the power of the InterCity Lacrosse League. But don't credit them with more than they have.

In spite of the four-column headlines, the Timbermen do not have Bobby Allan and they are still a long, long way from getting the slick little silver from Peterborough.

Allan wants to go to Nanaimo, and up in Coalton the feeling is mutual.

But Allan still belongs to Peterborough and before he can switch his allegiance he must be cleared by the Peterborough club, the Ontario Lacrosse Association and the Canadian Lacrosse Association.

Playing coach Harry Wipper already has been cleared by Peterborough and the OLA and is a bona fide resident of Nanaimo.

But Peterborough and the OLA may frown on losing two top players from the same club in one season, a loss that could just about wreck the aging Peterborough squad.

One thing in Allan's favor could be the fact that he is a college student. The CLA, which has the last word in transfers, may use this fact as the balance between east and west, selecting the league in which Allan could do most to further himself and his education. That rule about no two players from a team being allowed transfers in the same year is just flexible enough for the CLA to use its own discretion in individual cases.

Don Hamilton, our junior hockey nomad, says he saw an ad in a Winnipeg paper, inserted by the Nanaimo Lacrosse club. It offered tryouts for all-over-age juniors who were willing to make the trip to the Island.

Wonder if it was listed in Help Wanted or Business Opportunities?

Johnny Clark's dream of a trip to Australia with the Alberta Athletics was shattered Saturday night when the defending Canadian champ A's were ignominiously given the boot by Vancouver C-Fun in the Olympic trials.

What hurt even more was the way in which C-Fun defeated the Athletics.

"I guess you could call it ball control, to be polite," said Clark. "One of the C-Fun guards would come up over centre, stop, tuck the ball under his arm and just stand there. After a while he'd pass off to someone else who'd tuck it away and wait for us to foul. It was lousy basketball but it was smart basketball. They figured out the only way to beat us and it worked just the way they figured."

NEWS PICKINGS — Ivan Temple calls Saturday night's hockey game in Nanaimo "the worst riot I've ever seen," but he commends several Nanaimo players for doing their best to douse the flames of temper. On one occasion, a Nanaimo fan attempted to scale the wire netting to get on the ice. While he hung half over, two Nanaimo players kept pushing him back while other fans pushed him forward. On another occasion, an incensed fan leaned over the boards to kick the referee and found his leg neatly pinned to the boards by a Nanaimo player's stick. . . . Johnny Cavallin, retired Vancouver Pilsemer manager, is organizing a school for InterCity League referees. One of his first pupils will be Mike Munroe, old-time Adana star. . . . The Optimist Club of Victoria holds its Tournament of Champions boxing show April 20 and 21, and we'd like to offer a suggestion. They could just about guarantee the entertainment success of the show by including the boxing rules display by the RCN Boxing Club. As seen during the recent army boxing tournament, the navy demonstration is not only informative, but side-splittingly hilarious.

Now that Jake Proctor is coach of the Indians-Pilsemers amalgamated lacrosse team and Whoopie Tyler is a near-cinch to lead the New Westminster entry, the story can be told. New Westminster and InterCity League officials alike were holding their breaths in anticipation some weeks ago after Proctor told league secretary Tommy Gordon, "If I coach anywhere this year, it will be in New Westminster." The one deterring factor, of which all parties were afraid, was civic politics, Jake being a New Westminster fireman.

Warriors Hang Tight to Lead

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Warriors Tuesday night strengthened their hold on top of the Western Hockey League by defeating Edmonton Flyers 4-2 before 5,259 fans.

In a game that started out fast but became dull and ragged in the third period, Warriors led 1-0 at the end of the first, added two more goals in the second to Edmonton's one then matched one more with the Flyers in the final.

Eric Nesterenko, Mickey Keating, Eddie Mazur and Paul Masnick scored for Warriors. Billy Dea and Don Poile counted for Flyers.

Nesterenko scored the only goal in the first when he intercepted a pass just outside Edmonton's blue line.

Edmonton tied it up while Winnipeg was two men short. Dea moving in on Ed Chadwick alone.

Keating sent Warriors ahead again when his shot from the blue line beat goalie Reginn. Mazur, who had missed three opportunities earlier in the period, worked his way through the Edmonton team and sent a waist-high shot past Reginn while the Flyers were a man short.

In the third, Masnick picked up the rebound and backhanded the puck into the net.

Poile scored the final goal of the night when he beat Chadwick with a shoulder-high shot from eight feet out.

Maloney Takes Scoring Lead

Phil Maloney of Vancouver Canucks steered two goal-producing passes onto teammates' sticks Tuesday night at Victoria to break a first-place deadlock with idle Blinky Boyce of New Westminster Royals in the Western Hockey League scoring race.

Maloney's two assists gave him a total of 34 goals and 54 assists to 85 points, two more than Boyce's 83.

Gerry Melnyk of Edmonton remained in third place with 82 points, being blanked at Winnipeg as the Flyers lost to the Warriors.

Picture Tube Main Target Of Sharpies

Another case of inefficient TV repair work after hours was reported to Victoria Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

Hector Crombie, secretary-manager, said a Victoria resident called in a TV repair man when his set went out of order one evening.

The repair man said the picture tube was gone and would cost $50 to replace. He wanted to take the set to his workshop. The owner said he did not want the set repaired at this price, but he paid $5 for the service call.

SMALL TUBE

A day or so later another TV technician looked at the set and declared that a smaller tube valued at $2.40 had failed. He declared this smaller tube, and not the picture tube, was at fault.

The set was restored to order by replacing this tube.

"The owner is now demanding return of the $5 he paid to the technician who called previously," Mr. Crombie said. "This case emphasizes our previous warning to the public that they should deal only with established TV repair men."

ROME ACADEMY HONORS SHOSTAKOVITCH

ROME (AP) — Four foreign composers have been named honorary members of the famed Academy of St. Cecilia of Rome.

They are Aaron Copland of the United States, Oliver Messiaen and Francis Poulenec of France and Dmitri Shostakovich of the Soviet Union. American operatic composer Gian-Carlo Menotti, a native of Italy, was made a regular member.

Viet Nam's First Assembly Supports President Diem

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese have elected their first constituent assembly.

Except for three mortar shell blasts in a Saigon suburb and a grenade explosion in a voting booth outside the city, there were no reports of violence. One person was reported injured and a few houses damaged.

President Ngo Dinh Diem appeared to have gained in stature by the elections.

The assembly of 12 deputies will write the country's first constitution and may, in so doing, write themselves into office. But if they do not come up with a constitution within 45 days after their first meeting, the deputies will lose their jobs.

Student Actors Draw Big Crowd

Teen-Agers Maintain High Level Of Performance in Three Plays

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Second day of the Greater Victoria School Drama Festival, during which five plays were seen, culminated in what Mrs. Lily Harper, Vancouver adjudicator, described as "another delightful evening."

Before a large audience in Central Junior High School, two costume plays and a modern light comedy were presented by teen-age actors who maintained the high level of performance established on opening night.

"POETASTERS OF ISPAHAN"
By Clifford Box
Presented by Central Junior High School
Cast:

Halls
Nerihal
Akash
Bulman
Guleesh
Ibn Hassim
Saroukh
Slaveboy
Negro Slave
Director: Mr. Ralph Fell
Prompter: Jessie Saksaki
Stage Manager: Miss Olive Heritage

This cast provided a very interesting opening, commented Mrs. Harper. "She felt it was a play that needed a light touch and a firm grasp of the central idea. The latter was not present at the beginning but improved as the play went along, she considered."

"The acting flowed rather well and there was lots of power in the voices," she stated.

"MY LAST DUCHESS"
By H. C. Bannerman
Presented by Victoria High School
Cast:

Liza
Maria
Count Giomini
Francesca
Duke of Ferrara
Director: Mr. T. W. Mayne
Assistant Director: John Lancaster (student)
Stage Manager: Eric Eastick

This piece, set in renaissance Italy and based on a poem by pressed with the potentialities Robert Browning, had Mrs. Harper considered been a promise. Qualities in pruched with considerable intelligence.

Characters established themselves right at the beginning and responded well to situations at Woods' transition of mood all times, she commented. The pace flowed smoothly, there was her walk and general bearing; clean-cut stage movement and the outstanding voice of John just enough in the setting to Gilliland and strength of character suggested by Bob Smith.

"SLOW CURTAIN"

Presented by St. Margaret's Girls' School
Cast:

Meredith Savale
Frances Stewart
Dorothy Trew
Della Trew
Alice Hall, MA, OBE
Sister
Director: Mrs. Eleanor Hewitt
Stage Manager: Susan Cooke

This was a light comedy in which the cast had a nice feel as a "clever dialectician," and doing for teamwork. They adjusted their voices well to the an entertaining performance, requirements of the hall, the adjudicator remarked.

She thought the costumes well carried out, as they gave definite cues to the character in each case.

Of Sally Timmis' performance, she commented: "This girl has the true-comedian's agility and an awareness of timing."

"THE HOMESTEAD ROOM"
By Mildred Bark and Nori McQueen
Presented by Quastra Elementary School
Cast:

Alice Saunders
Patsy St. John
Bud Saunders
Marie Saunders
Ruby
Director: Mrs. Beatrice Kirton

Mrs. Harper considered this play was an adequate performance. The mended as competent, having group worked together very excellent movement and natural well in this light situation com-gestures.

ROBOT-BOMB AGE COMING

Jets on Way Out Dr. Solandt Warns

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. O. M. Solandt, attending the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization conference made what was believed to be America's first major policy statement on the Pakistan-Afghan issue.

There was no commitment to back the stand with military support, although Dulles had earlier urged the creation of a standing military force to protect the vulnerable SEATO nations against Communist aggression.

Dulles announced the U.S. position in the border dispute after Pakistan Finance Minister Syed Amjad Ali told SEATO delegates the Soviets may attempt to use Afghanistan to start a war with Pakistan in the same manner that Chinese Communists used North Koreans against the Republic of Korea.

KOREA AGAIN?

All pointed to American "failure" to draw a defense line in Korea prior to 1950. He said failure to act in Pakistan now might lead to "something what happened in the Far East."

Dulles replied: "The U.S. has never doubted that the sovereignty of Pakistan extends to the Durand line. We regarded this as the international frontier at the time we recognized Pakistan in 1947."

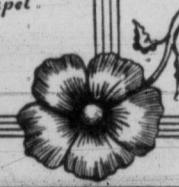

The Durand line was drawn by India in 1893 when Afghanistan tried to push its borders into sparsely-settled Indian territory. The line at that time defined the authority of the Emir of Afghanistan on his eastern and southern borders.

DENTISTS' HEAD HERE

Tooth Bootleggers Out of Hand in B.C.'

Sale of "bootleg" teeth in medical British Columbia is "out of hand," the president of the Canadian Dental Association, Dr. R. R. McIntyre, said here Monday.

Dental technicians who sell dentures directly to the public are those who can't make a living legitimately," he said.

These technicians, sometimes poorly trained, take impressions for false teeth without waiting for the dentist's impressions to be sent them.

A provincial government committee is now studying what should be done about "bootleg" teeth. Most dentists are against direct dealing with false teeth by technicians; many technicians and other medical men favor the system.

GREAT NEED

"UBC will probably graduate 40 to 50 a year," he predicted.

At present, Canada graduates only 200 dentists a year from five university centres. Need for more dentists is great.

The four western provinces now graduate only 30 dentists yearly from University of Alberta. To serve the population at least 100 are needed.

The dental association now has 5,300 members across Canada.

AVERAGE INCOME

Average yearly income for a dentist is $7,540.

"It's not a high income, yet we have people yelling about high costs," said Dr. McIntyre.

"Yet when we retire, we have no back-log such as a man in business to carry us through the later years."

Gervin Quits TLC Posts For Industry

VANCOUVER (CP) — R. K. Gervin, for 13 years secretary of the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council (AFL-TLC) resigned his post Tuesday night.

Mr. Gervin, one of Canada's outstanding labor leaders, made his surprise resignation at a meeting of the council.

Also vice-president of the Trades and Labor Congress, Mr. Gervin will leave his post on Friday.

He said he was quitting his post to take a job "in industry."

He said he would submit his resignation to Ottawa later today.

He will retain his position on the board of directors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, as chairman of the Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council and on several other public boards.

Of his new job he would only say: "It's . . . not in government and not in labor. It's in industry."

"An announcement will be made in a few days."

Two Reunions Planned By Veterans

Veterans' reunions of the Canadian Scottish Regimental Association and 67th Battalion Western Scots are scheduled here this month.

The Scottish regimental association will hold a dinner at 8 p.m. Saturday in Bay Street Armoury, which is open to all ex-members of the regiment and 16th Battalion CEF, plus serving members of the Canadian Scottish.

The 67th will have its reunion at Lougheed's Banquet Hall, March 24, 40 years to the day when the Victoria-recruited unit left for overseas under command of Lieut.-Col. Lorne Ross.

Tickets may be obtained from Mouison Smith, 722 Yates. Gordon Thomas, a former private in "C" Company, will be chairman, and Harold Rourke will take charge of the program and catering.

Sons and grandsons of battalion members are invited to attend the reunion.

HISTORY OF HANGING

Death Sentence No Deterrent

In view of the public interest in the recent vote to abolish the death penalty in Britain, the imminent return of the death sentence on guilty offenders, and the punishment which will be brought down in the Commons during this session, the Victoria Daily Times is publishing a series of articles by noted writer Arthur Koestler. They are condensed from his forthcoming book, "Reflections on Hanging."

By ARTHUR KOESTLER

In Mangin's L'Homme à la Bête there is an engraving entitled: "Infliction of the Death Penalty on a Sow." The sow, dressed in human clothes, legs pinioned, is held down on the scaffold by the executioner, who is fixing the rope round its throat.

Facing the sow is the town clerk, reading the sentence from a scroll; at the foot of the scaffold is a jostling crowd, much of the same kind as the crowds which used to assemble around the Tyburn Tree. Mothers are lifting up their children to give them a better view, and a stern worthy is pointing his finger at the screaming sow, obviously explaining: "She is only getting what she deserves."

Animals guilty of killing a human being were, in the Middle Ages, and in isolated cases up to the nineteenth century, tried by lawful procedure, defended by counsel, sometimes acquitted, more often sentenced to be hanged, burned, or buried alive. The sow on the engraving had killed a baby and was hanged in 1386 at Falaise; a horse which had killed a man was hanged at Dijon in 1389; another sow, with a litter of six, was sentenced for the murder of a child at Savigny in 1457, but was sentenced for the murder of an infant in Pleternica, Slovakia, 1364.

Deserves Some Reflection

Why do we find the hanging of an animal even more revolting and disgusting than the hanging of a human being? The question deserves some reflection.

Take the word "disgusting" first. Most of us, who are not vegetarians, have no strong feelings of disgust about the painless slaughtering of cattle and the shooting of game; the idea of executing an animal is disgusting because it appears to us as a purposeless and "artificial" way of ending its life, made even more gruesome by a grotesque ceremony. But hanging a man or a woman is an equally unappetizing and artificial ceremony. Both the murderer and the soldier have a motive to kill, which makes their act more or less spontaneous; in the execution chamber this redeeming aspect of spontaneity is absent, and only the ghastly ceremonial aspect of breaking a neck remains.

Not Responsible for Its Acts

We must try another approach. Let us put it this way: "The poor dumb creature did not know what it was doing; it is not responsible for its acts; and hence the proceedings of the court are an absurd farce." Now at last we seem to be getting somewhere. But are we really? For if you have ever seen the guilty look in your dog's eye after he stole a chop or chewed up your slippers, you know that the jury would have no choice but to find him criminally responsible according to the McNaughton rule: that he knew the nature of his act, and knew that it was wrong.

A pig, of course, is less intelligent than a dog, and may be said to be lacking, comparatively, in moral sense. But feeble-mindedness and lack of moral sense do not abolish criminal responsibility, nor are they sufficient grounds for pleading "guilty but insane." Strafford was found mentally defective yet he was sentenced to death, after Mr. Justice Cassels had instructed the jury to bear in mind only the McNaughton Rules and "not that he is feeble-minded, not that he has a lack of moral sense."

Tomorrow: The "reasonable man."

$150,000 Fire Sweeps Factory at Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — Fire destroyed the premises of Barber Machinery Co. Tuesday and Fire Chief A. J. G. Lauder estimated the loss at $150,000 to $200,000.

The blaze was reported to have started when a spark from a furnace ignited debris, which then set off explosions in acetylene tanks. None of the 22 men in the building at the time was injured.

Firemen saved some machinery, but a drilling rig valued at $125,000 was "a total loss," and a truck was damaged.

The two provinces are the only ones without their own divorce courts. They now send divorce petitions to Parliament at the rate of between 400 and 500 a year. Evidence in each case is sifted by the Senate's divorce committee.

SUNDAY SPORT ISSUE

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council Tuesday tossed the Sunday sport issue to Mayor Fred Hume and corporation counsel Russel Baker.

Council left the matter of obtaining enabling legislation to the mayor and Mr. Baker after a brief flare-up on the controversial subject.

Sunday sport was passed 38-031 to 36-124 in the December civic elections.

HEALTH LEAGUE SUPPORTS FLUORIDATION

TORONTO (CP) — Fluoridation of water was endorsed Tuesday by the Health League of Canada, in convention here.

A resolution adopted said there is overwhelming evidence that fluoridation as recommended by health authorities is an "effective method of markedly reducing dental caries with no harm to the human organism."

The league also urged provincial governments to make pasteurization of milk compulsory. Pasteurization is compulsory in Ontario and Saskatchewan only.

Women Weep in Courtroom As Petlock Murder Trial Begins

MELVILLE, Sask. (CP) — Police photographs taken after five persons were found dead in the Fenwood district last August were admitted for identification purposes only Tuesday at the murder trial of John Petlock.

Petlock, 36-year-old farmer charged with the murder of his brother, Michael, was arrested in Edmonton last Labor Day after a two-province manhunt. Michael's body was one of those found on his mother's farm.

The pictures showed the bodies of Mrs. Mary Petlock, 72, Michael's mother, his wife, Angeline, 21, and their two daughters, Dianne, 3, and Michalene, 11.

240-seat auditorium despite bitter cold and snow-blocked roads.

Hotel rooms are at a premium and restaurants were crowded to the doors during meal hours.

The jury was excluded while opposing lawyers argued the admissibility of the photographs. Mr. Justice H. F. Thomson of the court of Queen's bench, ruling on a defence request that the photographs might be admitted, said they could not be entirely disregarded but would be admitted only for identification purposes. They were not shown to the jury.

The pictures showed the bodies of Mrs. Mary Petlock, 72, Michael's mother, his wife, Angeline, 21, and their two daughters, Dianne, 3, and Michalene, 11.

The trial, being held in the auditorium of the town hall in this railway town 300 miles northeast of Regina, filled all seats in the first sitting. He yawned and coughed and smiled as he talked to two red-coated policemen guarding the prisoner's box. When relatives arrived and sat behind the box he turned to watch them.

The 12-man jury heard H. E. Ross, agent for the attorney-general, say that the Crown will attempt to prove that John Petlock shot Mike Petlock at the farm home. As he outlined the case, telling how the bodies of the two children were discovered, women in the court room began to weep.

Mr. Justice Thomson ruled that the jury would not have television for entertainment, as was allowed recently in Regina. He said there had been arguments as to its advisability.

Wonders of City Parks Missed By Many, Says Administrator

By PETE LOUDON

Parks administrator W. H. "Herb" Warren has a measuring stick 60 feet long to mark off his service with the city—several of them in fact.

They are a grove of western balsam poplars planted 25 years ago in Beacon Hill Park soon after he returned with his shiny BSc from Ontario Agricultural College.

Born in Hamilton 51 years ago, young Herb received his early education here and after graduation from agriculture college snapped at the chance to work in what had become his "home town."

The grove is a windbreak now at the Douglas street border and the trees are thicker in girth than Herb, who saw them as seedlings.

Herb's quarter of a century has seen many changes in city parks, not all for the better, as in the case of Gorge Park. In 1930 it was in its heyday, with attendance of

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

I have been asked to say something funny about the "S" look, and I am sorry I can't oblige.

The "S" look, as you may or may not know, is the new "fashion line" decreed by the characters who earn a living designing garments which make women look like what they are.

There is nothing funny about the "S" look. If you doubt this statement, consider the description of same carried on the front page of this very newspaper yesterday:

"Lean back, girls . . . way back from the hips. Now push your neck forward, hollow your chest, shoot out your tummy, curve yourself into a shallow letter 'S'."

If you can see anything funny in the spectacle of girls leaning, pushing, shooting, and curving themselves as per above directions, you must be a direct descendant of the joker who laughed himself silly when the Venus de Milo lost her arms.

Each time I am confronted with a newer and more complicated adornment for the feminine form, I grow more melancholy.

Being an old, old man, I can remember the era of the adjustable waistline, which slid from hips to knees to 34 degrees north with bewildering speed.

And I can remember the howls of masculine laughter which greeted each alteration in the normal flow of curves from shoulder to ankle. But I could not join in the laughter. I just felt too terribly, terribly sad.

I feel the same way about the "S" look, which is designed to make a woman look like one of Salvador Dali's watches with a fried egg dropped over it.

I admire the physical fortitude of a woman who will lean back from her hips, push her neck forward, hollow her chest, shoot out her tummy, curve her back, and turn herself into a shallow letter "S".

But I'll be blowed if I can look at her without bursting into tears.

I'm sorry I can't say anything funny about the "S" look, or any of the other "looks" which women adopt in concerted effort to avoid looking like women.

Some day, perhaps, women will wear clothes which are (a) comfortable, (b) attractive, and (c) make them look like women.

When this happens, I'll try to say something funny about it.

I should live so long.

FIVE MORE

The chief was speaking in support of his $494,910 estimates which call for hiring of five additional men and trading in five vehicles.

The commission, headed by Mayor Percy Seurah, took the budget under study and the meeting adjourned without decision.

The 1956 proposed budget is $26,338 greater than that passed last year but is still subject to cutting by both the commission and city council.

Although equipment needs are reduced this year, proposed wage expenditure, governed by wage agreements and the size of the force are up $31,126.

EXTENDED

A $10-a-month wage boost granted police union members last week was extended by the commission to all persons on the police payroll.

The commission noted increases in the estimates in insurance costs and increases in telephone expenditure due to agreement to pay home telephone charges for all sergeants and detectives.

The short life of a police patrol vehicle was described by the chief. He pointed out that one patrol wagon has been driven only 44,000 miles and is in poor condition. He said this was due to the necessity for driving at high speeds from cold starts.

17,000 to Work On Head-Counting

Choice of a census commissioner for the Victoria district is expected to be announced from Ottawa in the near future, it was learned today.

The appointment will start the machinery rolling for the 1956 census scheduled to get underway June 1.

The commissioner for the 1951 census was lawyer Arthur Burns.

First task of the commission will be the training of his staff and a large body of enumerators who will do the actual field work.

It will be Canada's first five-year census.

17,000 WORKERS

According to a Canadian Press report from Ottawa, almost 17,000 workers will work for each of 263 census districts, 526 field supervisors and about 16,000 enumerators who will gather the information.

Because of the time needed to compile census results, Canada in the past has had one only every 10 years. Techniques developed in the 1951 census have cut down this time and made a five-year census practicable.

The department said this year's streamlined census has been designed to cost about $5,000,000, compared with $8,000,000 in 1951.

It has been slimmed down to just five general questions plus a more detailed questionnaire on agriculture.

Each person will be listed by age, sex, marital status, relationship to the head of the household and whether living on a farm. This compares with 19 questions in 1951.

Farmers will be asked 76 questions. Later, special enumerators will make a sample survey on such matters as farm expenses and farmers' income from non-farm operations.

Firemen, City Seeking Conciliator

Bargaining officials for Victoria firemen and city hall agreed today to ask appointment of a conciliation officer by the provincial labor department to mediate current wage disputes.

The union has asked 9.7 per cent more wages and has been offered 1.9 per cent this year, and 1.75 per cent in 1957.

Union members made the decision to refuse the offer at a meeting Tuesday night. The decision was reported to be unanimous.

The firemen did not open their contract in 1955 and argue that city policemen, following a $10 a month across-the-board boost last week, now earn $19 a month more than firemen in all grades.

Oh, yes. As for those minor details which separate me from ownership of this automotive masterpiece, it is just a matter of coming to terms.

The full price here is a mere $13,500; now, if I can get $1,55 trade-in on my present car, and 24 years to pay the balance, I can handle the deal easily.

All I would have to give up is eating.

SHOPPING GUIDEEnd Needless Searching... Buy a Button Assortment

By PENNY SAVER

Button, button, who's got the button? I was sure I had one of those small white ones, just the right size for my blouse, right in the button box. After much searching, I found one that almost matches, and it will have to do until I can buy some more. White buttons are always in demand, and always in one's or two. Dresses, blouses, pyjamas, shirts, and children's clothes often are in need of button replacements, and the search begins again. But—not if you've bought one of the handy boxes of assorted white buttons. In this clear plastic, clip-top box are approximately 68 buttons, all white. The price? It's 39 cents.

If the belt buckle of an oft-used dress or skirt is showing signs of wear, or if the whole belt needs renovating, you may do the job yourself at very little expense. If you're making your own clothes, of course this kit I found is a must. A belt buckling and metal or plastic buckle form and strip of eyelets costs 39 cents. Buckles alone are 15 cents. Full illustrated instructions are printed on the packages so that it's made even easier.

The washing of jeans, work pants, slacks or overalls is usually a major operation. Once the washing is done, the way in which they are hung to dry determines, to a great extent, just how much work will go into the ironing. If you hang them up held to size and shape by lightweight aluminum forms, your ironing will be cut to a minimum. And there's no need to worry about having different forms to fit the different sized slacks or trousers 'cause these are easily adjustable to any size, from Junior's overalls to Dad's heavy work pants. Just slip the forms in, and the trousers will dry with natty creases in them. Each form costs 89 cents.

If you're a fondness for dainties, real or artificial, then come along and feast your eyes on the newly-arrived shipment of spring flowers in tones to spruce up and set off to best advantage your planned Easter outfit. (Yes, it's almost that.

Reports Heard—At a meeting of Lake Hill Women's Institute, reports were given by Miss E. M. Bruce, Local Council of Women; Mrs. E. Glover, hall rentals; Mrs. Gilbert Howland, citizenship and Indian Arts and Welfare. Dr. M. Sherman, welfare and drama committee, spoke of plays presented at the health centre and at Oak Lodge. At these affairs, singing has been enjoyed with Mrs. F. W. Decker at the piano. Mrs. A. X. Rey reported sending a card and birthday gift to the branch's adopted child at the Satorium. Mrs. J. Sutherland was appointed delegate to a meeting on problems of the aging. It was decided to hold the annual spring tea and sale of home cooking and fancy goods in late April. On Monday at 10:30 a.m. a "sewing bee" will be held in the hall, and at the next social meeting on March 19 a special feature will be a panel discussion on "Fluoridation."

Tuna-Vegetable Sauce Delicious With Spaghetti

A friend just back from Italy tells us about a fish and vegetable sauce they use on spaghetti. She worked out a recipe, using tuna. Try it for your next meal variation. It's a delightful variation.

SPAGHETTI WITH SPRINGTIME TUNA SAUCE

Three tablespoons fat, 1 small clove garlic, minced, ½ cup finely-diced onion, ½ cup finely diced celery, 2 8-ounce cans tomato sauce, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, ½ cup water, ½ tea-spoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, ½ teaspoon oregano, 2 cups sliced carrots, 1 pound spaghetti, cooked, ½ cup silvered green pepper, 7-ounce can tuna fish, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Melt fat in saucepan. Add

Spaghetti needs a fine, full-bodied sauce on it to do it justice.

Try this tuna-vegetable suggestion.

Walled City Built in Roman Days Once Centre of World

By LYNN NEWTON LOWES

Traveling with her husband, Mr. Peter Lowes to Lebanon where he has been named to the staff of the United Nations Relief Work Association, Mrs. Lowes, the former Miss Lynn Newton, found much to interest her. She is sharing these interests in a series of letters written to her parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Newton of the Saanichton Experimental Farm here. Excerpts from these letters will appear in this column for the next few weeks.

BIARRITZ HOTEL,
BEIRUT, LEBANON

"Istanbul is a maze of mosques and minarets which crowd the waterfront of the Bosphorus and the Golden Horn. The old city which is separated from the new by the fresh water inlet of the Golden Horn is by far the most attractive. It is partly walled and the wall dates back to the Roman Empire 196 AD. It is hard to realize that at one time this city was the centre of the world and that even Great Britain was ruled from it as a very insignificant colony."

"We visited the Hya Sofya mosque built in 533 and now a museum. The building is magnificent! We think our modern engineers can create amazing structures, but none of them can equal the designers of this mosque with its enormous dome that has stayed there for so many centuries without a single pillar for support."

"Right across from the Sofya is the Blue Mosque (or Mosque of Sultan Ahmet) which is most impressive outside with its six minarets (Sofya has four). The inside is covered with tile with a light blue design. It is quite breathtaking when you first walk in. As it is still used as a mosque, the huge floor space is covered with carpets where 15,000 people at a time can find room to kneel and pray. There were several priests singing in one corner when we were there and the sound could be heard all through the numerous domes."

Camels Have a 'Strange, Proud Look'

"We left Istanbul after checking the car and cleaning up and started our big trek across Turkey. It turned out to be a fascinating country that changed every 100 miles. First there was the green forests on the hills. Then came a very dry plateau and I saw my first camel all by himself and just loaded with all sorts of household goods. Camels are the funniest animals. They hold their heads up in a proud and superior way. Later on through Central Turkey we came upon a camel caravan with baby camels, donkeys and masses of nomad-like Turks who travel with them. I just cannot get over the feet of the camels—they are so big and soft and silent. Ten camels could pass you on the street and you would never hear them."

Ankara, the capital, is a new modern city built by Ataturk, who insisted that it be completely western and away from the old city. He had his wish. We found wide boulevards with trees; parks, recreational grounds. The city is set smack in the middle of the desert with nothing near it in the way of mountains, lakes or rivers.

From there to Syria the drive was hot and dusty. As we drove south we passed an extinct volcano sitting in the middle of a plain, then came the mountains of the Tarsus range. The road became twisted and narrow as we started through the pass to the Cilician Gates. We slept by the car at the top of the pass then got up at 4 a.m. to drive through and see the sun come up.

"We could just imagine the great Roman Legions marching through hundreds of years ago."

"From the mountains we came out on an even dustier plain than took us to Tarsus which has all the history in the world, but is nothing but narrow dirt streets crowded with wagons of sacked cotton and with masses of people. Adana, quite near, is big and bustling but not very pleasant. From here it was a dash to the sea coast, the beautiful Mediterranean and a swim."

"We had hoped to get to the sea before sundown, but the man at the Syria customs was a pompous little fellow who wouldn't hurry an inch for us."

Swim Under Mediterranean Moon

"It was dark when we finally turned off on a gravel road which took us right on to the beach. It was glorious. There was a moon so we tore off our clothes and ran into the warmest water you could imagine. We didn't put the tent up and later that night black clouds came over and absolutely drenched us in a matter of five minutes. It was about 4 a.m., so we started off for Beirut and arrived in our dirty disheveled condition at this luxury Biarritz hotel at 11 a.m. The poor man at the desk rather hesitated about taking us. Peter's beard was quite full grown at this time and in his dirty shorts he was quite a sight. It was quite amusing when we came down to lunch after a bath and change for the hotel staff didn't recognize Peter after his shave."

"Our three days at the Biarritz have been pure luxury for it's right on the sea and I've been swimming twice each day. A nice medical student has been very helpful looking for apartments for us as well as taking us swimming."

Sawchuk-Ellinson Wedding Ceremony in St. Andrew's

Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiated at the ceremony in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church when Miss Louise Gunda Ellinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Knute Ellinson, 600 Kerr Avenue, exchanged wedding vows with Lawrence Sawchuk, HMCS Stettler, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sawchuk, Transcona, Man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and net over ruffled net and satin. The matching bolero jacket had long lily-point sleeves. A pearl tiara held her floor-length veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Matron of honor, Mrs. G. W. Connolly, wore a pale blue net gown and carried a bouquet of yellow daffodils and blue iris, and wore a matching tiara of flowers. Bridesmaid Miss Jeni Braden chose a pale pink net gown, and a bouquet of iris and pink tulips. Miss Grace Garnot chose a pale yellow dress with blue iris and yellow daffodil bouquet. Best man was Melvin Ellinson, brother of the bride, and ushers, Robert Richardson and Robert Braden.

At the Golden Slipper, a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with spring flowers and set in a mist of white tulips centred the bride's table. Red roses in silver vases and white candles flanked the cake. Peter Hitchcox proposed the toast to the bride.

For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Sawchuk chose a tweed coat over a blue box suit. She wore a pink hat and pink

For the ceremony, the bride was gowned in a ballerina length dress of blush brocade. Her finger tip veil was held by a tiny headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of pink delights. Lily point gloves completed her ensemble.

Maid of honor, Miss Jean Fanthorpe, wore pale yellow, and carried a bouquet of irises.

While the bridal party signed the register, Mrs. E. Sivertsen sang a solo.

Best man was Gordon Lindquist, brother-in-law of the groom, and usher was Mr. Alec James. A reception followed at the Ferndale Road home of the groom's mother.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Let's Face It, Men—Good Grooming Is Vital to You

I think that women work for attractiveness much more for the men they love than for themselves or for other women. However, the picture a woman has of herself is most important! An improvement in physical appearance can produce a big change in her happiness and personal life.

But we seldom hear of a man who is trying to improve his appearance for his lady love, although this is more usual now than it was in the past. Yet many papas or boy friends could use a bit of glamor of a masculine sort.

Poor grooming is no more attractive on a man than it is on a woman. Poor posture is just as unattractive whether the victim be man or woman. Bad breath or B.O. is just as offensive on a man as it is on a woman.

I am quite sure that many men have been penalized in matters such as this and never knew what happened to them.

A recent letter from a reader made me think of this now. She wrote:

"I know that your column is a woman's column and that a woman is happiest when she is attractive to the opposite sex, but it is a bonus to find some of the opposite sex who are attractive to her."

"I myself have known many men who were charming, amusing or intelligent, but who were poorly groomed that their wrinkled suits and neglected nails made them almost repulsive, and I am really not extreme in that way. I am only human."

Yes, good grooming is vital to you, men. So, today I suggest to the men that they take more care about having well pressed suits, that they use their mother's or sister's or daughter's or wife's deodorants or buy some for themselves, that, too,

Bringing Up Baby.

MISSES COLLECTED BY
Mrs. Dan Gerber
(MOTHER OF 3)

"Is there really a Mrs. Gerber or is she a made-up person?" That's a question that pops up in ever so many letters. Well, there's nothing fictional about me or my family. I'm a very much alive, proud mother of five—and a delighted grandmother of six. It's a busy but rewarding life, and the lot of us love every minute of it.

Suggestion box: Many of our suggestions come from mothers just like you. Any hints you'd like to share? Write to Mrs. Dan Gerber, Box 4027, Terminal "A", Toronto, Ont.

Follow-up course: It's amazing how soon a baby needs new additions to his milk or formula diet. Perhaps your doctor already has suggested orange juice, for the vitamin C so vital to sound gums and body tissues. Gerber Strained Orange Juice has a guaranteed high vitamin-C content—is particularly mild and pleasant tasting. Made from tree-ripened oranges packed at the peak of flavor. Naturally, it's carefully pasteurized and finely strained.

Multiple-use diapers: Spanking clean diapers serve nicely as carriage sheets; shoulder pads when you bubble baby; head pads to protect crib sheets from spit-ups; hand towels for between-bath clean-ups.

All through the early years enriched cereals are a must for the growing baby. Gerber ready-to-serve baby cereals not only provide the energy-giving calories active young ones need, but they're fortified with iron, calcium and important B-vitamins to make the whole-grain wheat, Rye, Rice, Barley, Oats, Wheat and Mixed Cereal for meal-time interest.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books? Then ask Andy! Andy, who is a picture not a person, will answer two questions daily submitted by child readers of Canada and the U.S. Children who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive a prize for the main question, either a copy of "The American People's Encyclopedia," or a set of three volumes of "The American People's Encyclopedia Year Book" or a year's subscription to "Treasure Hunt."

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times, Victoria, People's Encyclopedia, to Lynn Smith, aged 13, of Peoria, Illinois, for her question:

What Is a Fossil?

The old earth, it seems, keeps the buried bones of animals who lived on earth long, long ago. Experts study them to see what kind of creatures once lived and died here. They can trace back the history of life on earth. The floor of an old cave is a good place to dig for such fossils. Many are found preserved in beds of asphalt. Old volcanic vents often yield up fossil bones. Animals fall into holes and tar pits and were buried there.

Sometimes the remains of plants and animals become turned into stone. There are such petrified bones, shells and trees. This work is done by running water. Each particle is replaced by stony chemical. It is a long job. When it is done, a perfect copy of the original creature or plant exists in stone, sometimes in precious opal. Strictly speaking, these petrified objects are not fossils. But they often tell us as much about the ancient world as does a real fossil. *

Leonardo da Vinci was a great painter of the sixteenth century. He was also one of the most thoughtfully curious men who ever lived. He was puzzled by many things. Some shell-like designs in certain stones with which he worked. And Leonardo was one of the first to recognize these things for what they were. They were, he thought, the relics of bygone animals.

We call all these preserved specimens fossils. The word fossil comes from an older word meaning to dig up. This is because fossils are usually found deep in the ground. Dead bodies of animals soon decay in the open air. In order to become a fossil, a creature must be buried in some way. Only so can it be preserved. It may be buried in the wet mud of a sea bed or under piles of dry earth. But it will not endure if its burial place tends to change from wet to dry.

Some fossils are preserved in ice. A fossilized mammoth was found in the glacial ice of Siberia. Its bones, its flesh and most of its skin were preserved in an age-old deep freeze.

The most perfect fossils are preserved in amber. Such a fossil started when some insect became trapped in the sticky resin given off by an ancient tree. In time, the resin hardened into a glob of golden amber. The little creature was trapped forever in a glassy tomb. Sometimes these creatures are so perfectly preserved that we can see their delicate wings and fine hairs. Most fossils, however, are too bad you couldn't be in the contest, Baxter! You have a nose that could easily twist so you could full corks with it! Some day you'll lean too far over that fence and I'll accommodate you!

Nixon Favored By GOP Leaders

Poll Shows Vice-President 13-1 Choice But Majority Wait Eisenhower Signal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice-president Nixon is 13 to 1 choice for a second term among Republican party leaders taking a definite for or against stand at this point.

The ratio is even more lopsided—16 to 1—if those who want him (provided Eisenhower does) are counted in the Nixon camp. Eisenhower isn't saying at the moment. An Associated Press poll of organizations Republicans—governor, state chairmen, and national committeemen and women—showed Saturday that more are uncommitted than committed—but not many more—on who should run with Ike. Like Eisenhower, many of the uncommitted have kind words for the vice-president.

Only a few GOP leaders say they prefer somebody other than Nixon.

None of the organization regulars attack him outright. The survey brought responses from 112 out of a possible 165 GOP organization leaders—two out of three—in almost all states. It shows this:

If the views of governors prevailed, or of state chairmen in the absence of governor, Nixon would go into the Republican national convention in August as the odds-on favorite for renomination. He still would lack enough votes to win.

The vice-president seems to have his strongest backing in the south and west—except in his home state of California.

An unusual and perhaps significant fact is that none of the four top party leaders in California has directly endorsed him.

HARMONY MOVE

But at San Francisco Saturday a proposed endorsement of Vice-President Nixon for reelection won its first test without a murmur of opposition.

The 40-man candidates and fact-finding committee of the California Republican Assembly voted unanimously to recommend that the volunteer party organization "enthusiastically endorse" the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

Carrying out the new GOP harmony theme in the state, the committee commanded Governor Goodwin J. Knight, Senator William F. Knowland and Nixon on their "statesmanship" in "joining hands to unify the Republican party of California."

There is no solid support in California or elsewhere for anybody else, either in preference to Nixon or as second choice to Hoffman.

A scattering mention was made of 16 other possibilities, mostly on a home state, favor-on basis.

The name of Governor Christian Herter of Massachusetts popped up more frequently than any other, three times in his home state, as well as in Florida and New Hampshire. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was mentioned in Ohio, Georgia and Missouri.

The only others named more than once were former Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado, in Colorado and Nevada, and Senator Knowland of California in Ohio and Oklahoma.

Among those getting honorable mention in the event Nixon isn't the vice-presidential nominee were Governor Knight, Governor Langlie of Washington, Governor Craig of Indiana, former Governor Dewey of New York, presidential assistant Harold E. Stassen, UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Senators Bridges of New Hampshire, Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Bricker of Ohio, and Representative Halleck of Indiana.

Eisenhower Flattens 'Dump Nixon' Rumors

But President Makes It Clear He'll Not Chart His Aide's Course

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower said today it is up to Vice-President Richard M. Nixon to chart his own political future.

Mr. Eisenhower told his news conference that he has no criticism of Nixon as a man, an associate or a running mate on the Republican ticket. But he said he has not presumed to tell Nixon what he should do about the campaign this year.

The president reacted sharply when a reporter cited a published report that some of his advisers are urging him to "dump" Nixon.

With energetic seriousness, the president said that if anyone ever had the effrontery to suggest to him that he dump

Smallwood Acts to End Nfld. 'Curse'

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — Premier Smallwood Tuesday called isolation the "curse of Newfoundland" as leaders from one of the province's least-accessible areas met to discuss their problems and their future.

Delegates to the conference, on northern Newfoundland came from Bonne Bay, about midway up the west coast, around the Great Northern peninsula and as far east as Cape St. Johns on the northeast coast.

Mr. Smallwood, opening the four-day meeting, said such meetings enable the government to hear the opinions and problems of people in hard-to-reach sections of the island.

The premier said it is his government's policy to decrease "the curse of isolation." Nowhere else in North America, he said, is there an area where people living a few miles from one another could spend a lifetime without meeting as was the case in Newfoundland's north.

Czechs Sign Ottawa Deal For Wheat

OTTAWA (CP) — Czechoslovakia today signed an agreement to buy between $5,000,000 and $17,000,000 worth of "middle-grade" Canadian wheat during the next year. Dr. Jozef Gerlich, Czechoslovakian commercial attaché in Montreal, said today.

He said the agreement was signed this morning by federal trade officials and members of a Czech trade mission now visiting Canada. It called for the purchase of at least 3,700,000 bushels of wheat. An official of the Czech trade delegation also said Tuesday night that Czechoslovakia has purchased 40,000 tons of Canadian barley—an approximately 1,866,000 bushels.

At current prices the sale would amount to roughly $2,052,600. The lucky wife is Mrs. Myra Ricchman Duck. Agreement on her share of the estate of Helge Nelson, of Huntington and Miami Beach, Fla., was reached in surrogate's court here Monday.

As a girl of 15, Mrs. Duck married Nelson. After two weeks he left her and she never heard from him again.

SHE WAS NEVER DOWNCAST

Inherits $260,000 From 'Ex-Husband'

RIVERHEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Twenty years later she wanted to marry Frank L. Duck. Prudie, she hired a lawyer to get a desertion divorce from her long-departed husband, in case he was still alive.

The lawyer, she told surrogates Edgar Hazelton, reported back in due time that he had obtained a divorce decree. He collected his fee and she went ahead and married Duck.

Nelson, meantime, was making a fortune as a partner in a Brooklyn metal products factory.

BEFORE PACKED COURTROOM

Dawley Pleads Not Guilty On 3 Counts at Nanaimo

By TONY DICKASON
Times Staff Reporter
NANAIMO—Three times he faced trial in Nanaimo Assizes said firmly, standing before the Court today on two charges of red-caped judge, "not guilty, car stealing, and one of having burglar tools in his possession."

This was Clifford Dawley, 44. Witnesses this morning were

Dr. W. K. Murchie, Duncan, who said that his car was taken Dec. 7, 1953, and Dean Reginald Andrews, plant manager for Sunnybrae Dairies in Duncan, who was being questioned by Mr. McCulloch regarding the disappearance of one of the company's one-ton trucks.

SON OF CHIEF

An escape artist—two temporarily successful escapes from Oakalla—and son of a former Esquimalt police chief, the hawk-faced man was arrested at gunpoint in Toronto in mid-January.

Dawley fled in his night clothes from Vancouver General Hospital March 8, 1954, while serving a six-month term for assaulting a police officer and awaiting trial on an habitual criminal charge. He had been taken to the hospital from Oakalla after complaining he was ill.

His second escape was made Aug. 23, 1954, when he scaled a 10-foot wall at Oakalla at the end of an exercise period.

He had been working for a Toronto fuel dealer the last time he had been free. When arrested he had been at large 17 months.

He arrived, manacled to an RCMP constable, at 10:30 a.m. from Vancouver via boat. He was taken off at the freight level—first person off the boat—and whisked to Nanaimo court house, accompanied by three constables.

Federal assistance was essential but that did not mean Ontario was satisfied with a federal government offer two months ago to pay about half the costs of some aspects of the plan.

"We feel the federal government's offer fails to take in all the phases needed to provide satisfactory coverage.

WOULD PAY FOR EXTRAS

Special diagnostic services such as radiological examinations and laboratory tests would be paid as would hospital bills for mental and tubercular patients.

Similar services would be provided if possible in homes to keep hospital crowding to a minimum.

The plan, however, would not be free. Much of the financing would be by premiums, a until then as conductor.

Herd Faces Widowhood As 'Old Joe' Smears Auto

BIG DELTA, Alaska (AP)—Game agents are keeping a vigil over "Old Black Joe," kingpin of the buffalo herd that inhabits this sector of Alaska's interior.

A car carrying two army families slammed into the ton of buffalo on the highway several days ago. When the car quit spinning, the doors had to be pried open so the six bruised occupants could get out.

Joe staggered away. The au-tobomobile was towed off, its front end completely caved in, and sold for junk by its owner.

Marks on the road indicated Joe was knocked 10 feet. He got up and staggered six miles.

He was still alive Tuesday, but very weak. Game agents estimate that Joe's death would mean widowhood for 100 members of Alaska's only buffalo herd.

Terrorists Defy Troops In Cyprus

Youth Killed In New Uproar

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters)—The noise of terrorist bomb explosions sounded during the night as Greek Cypriots defied intensified British measures to stamp out their campaign violence on this Mediterranean island.

A Greek Cypriot youth was fatally injured by a bomb splinter when terrorists hurled a grenade at a British army patrol car near Paphos, north of the west coast port of Paphos.

Terrorists, pressing Greek Cypriot demands for merger of Cyprus with Greece, also threw two bombs at a police station in Morphou, 25 miles west of Nicosia. The bombs caused damage but no casualties.

JAILLED FOR LIFE

The outbreaks followed the biggest search carried out by British troops in Nicosia since the wave of violence reached its present pitch a year ago.

Troops Tuesday night stopped cars all over this capital and carefully searched drivers and passengers. Other soldiers mainly covered them with machine-guns from doorways.

Six Greek Cypriot youths were sentenced today to life imprisonment when they pleaded guilty to carrying arms and ammunition last December. They were arrested on a lonely country lane near where terrorists had attacked a police station the previous night and killed a British officer.
